The Judiciary Committee agreed to postpone action on the bill until a slight technical error, which Cantor took advantage of, could be corrected.

This error was probably intentional and designed to further delay the passage of the Magistrales' bill. It consisted of the error of a cierk in designating an unimportant amendment to the bill as belonging to another bill introduced in the Assembly and relating to the same subject.

This error was discovered four or five days ago, and there was ample time to correct it, but it seems to have been purposely neglected.

Government Organizers to Brooklyn Disantisfied.

It was learned to-day that there is a serious hitch in the proposed organisation of Good Government clubs in Brooklyn growing out of the dissatisfaction of some of those originally at the head of the scheme.

The trouble, it is said, lies in the fact that some machine politicians enrolled among the organizers began at once to pull wires to further their own ends. Some of the most prominent advocates of Good Government clubs have de-clared their intention of abandoning the scheme.

"Already politics is playing too prom-inent a part in the embryo organiza-tion," said a prominent reformer to-day. "Some men are beginning to cry for offices before we are fairly started, and I guess the whole thing will fall through."
